

Chris Moeller

Regenerative Strategist + Founder, Orion Growth + Pathway Communities

Chris Moeller is a systems thinker and builder focused on the convergence of artificial intelligence, real estate, and regenerative development. As Founder of Orion Growth and Pathway Communities, he integrates emerging AI technologies into community planning, adaptive reuse, and workforce housing to solve real-world challenges at scale. Chris speaks passionately about applying agentic design, federated systems, and human-centered AI to build more equitable, efficient, and resilient communities—and believes the future of place starts with intelligent, purposeful platforms.

Select Accomplishments & Affiliations

- Founder of Pathway Communities, a public-benefit initiative repurposing vacant office parks into sustainable, tech-enabled workforce housing.
- CEO of Orion Growth, a consulting and program management firm focused on digital transformation in the built environment.
- Developed the Pathworxx™ agentic design framework—a human-first approach to workforce development, AI adoption, and systems alignment.
- Serves as Outreach Director for Oak Hill Academy’s Environmental Literacy Certificate Program, bridging regenerative education with global ESG fluency.
- Strategic advisor to AI and data-driven initiatives in partnership with academic institutions, municipal agencies, and emerging tech platforms.
-

 Website

www.chrismoeller.xyz

 LinkedIn

linkedin.com/in/chrismoeller

 Available for speaking engagements, advisory roles, and collaborative workshops on AI, regenerative systems, and the future of place.